The Thieves Caught.

Circumstances have for some time led to the belief that some one connected with the Methodist Publishing House at Nashville, was systematically robbing the mails. Colonel Poosser instituted means for detecting the thief which are detailed by the Taft, of New York, has been arrested on a Banner, and show that a young man named Hill, who has been in Dr. Redford's employ some time, was the guilty party.

Colonel Prosser felt sure that nothing could be wrong inside, as he heard mean-while of no other stolen letters except those of this address. Again, those stolen were known to be from the various sections with which the house did business, and hence were known to come in by all These facts seemed to Colonel Prosser to free the postal department of the charge. He accordingly placed a watch over the box from a secreted place. Assistant post-master, Hopkins and Mr. Carroll have been watching almost incessantly for two weeks, but nothing had been learned until yesterday evening, when Hill was caught vision, and adopted. in the very act.

A detective employed for the purpose of watching, saw Hill enter the vestibule of the building about 7 o'clock, shortly after the stamp office had been closed for the night. The gas is left burning in the vestibule till about 9 o'clock, for the convenience of those wishing to deliver letters to W. A., who in a few remarks expressed his apleave on the early trains, so that Hill had chosen the best hour for his work. He could see very well how to do it, and yet no one would be inside to know that anything wrong was going on. A hundred statement of the work done by the Council of people might be passing along by the office and see him taking the letters, yet be considered a merchant. RNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Anniversary Celebration at Clarendon Last

The Knights of Pythias in this celebrated the first anniversary of the introduction of the order in this State, last evening at Clarendon, the residence of the late Maj. Campbell Wal-

At this time a brief allusion to the origin of the fraturnity may not be devoid of interest. We grope not amid the fading traditions and musty legands of the far-distant past to find its beginning. On the 19th day of February, 1864, the principles of the Republican party and | in the city of Washington, the first Knights of Pythias Lodge was instituted. Eighteen hunhonored Republican, he will support him. | dred and sixty four! It was a time of dread, of doubt, of darkness and of desolation! For four long and weary years a terrible civil strife had been waged in our beloved country.

In such a time, when passion and lawlessness ruled the hour; when the news of battle and of bloodshed was born upon every breeze, the order of Pythian Knighthood was born, having for its aims, relief and brotherly love, and for its motto the mystic F. C. B. How suggestive the period of its birth; how noble the aims; how appropriate, both then and now, its tripple

As in the physical world the thunder clouds will sometimes scatter away and permit us to see the beautiful evening star, beaming in brightness above us, so there, in that first Knights of Pythias Lodge, in the city of Washington, the black clouds of war and of hate were rolled away, and the star of friendship shed its radiance upon a band of brothers. So strange a spectacle at such a time soon had its effect. From every direction came petitions far dispensations and for membership, and thus began a growth which is unparalleled in the history of any similar order.

Only eight years have passed there are now one huddred thousand brave Knights united as a band of brothers by the enduring bonds of sincere friendship, and are ready upon a mobeen admitted into the mysteries of our most honorable order. In our own State the order has had no period of uncertainty and bids fair to equal if not outstrip some of the other secret societies in the rapidity of its growth and the extent of its usefulness; an order which sprung from the purest motives of the human heart, and whose aims are as grand, as good and as noble as any recorded on the pages of history. A large party was present on the occasion and the occasion was highly enjoyed by all. After the Mechanics' band had played some three or four pieces, Maj. A. S. Prosser took the rostrum and made a very eloquent speech, tracing the Order from its origin up to the present day. He stated that there were twelve Lodges, with a total of eight hundred members in the State of Tennessee, three hundred thousand in the United States and the Canadas. He was followed by Capt. Alex, Allison, who made a short but very beautiful oration, which was loudly encored. After this the dancing commenced and continued until some gentlemen asked the guests to gather in a circle MATAMORAS, July 26.—The business houses are closed and filags are at half

The affair was a complete success, and the Knights are deserving of great credit for making the evening pleasant to everybody.

Meeting of the Grand Division, S. of T .-Reception of Delegates-Notes of the Town, &c.

On Thursday afternoon the Grand Division of East Tennessee, Sons of Temperance, held their regular quarterly session at Philadelphia, not the city of Brotherly Love, in Pennsylvania, but the pleasant little village on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad, about an hour and a half's ride from Knoxville. The delegates were received by a committee from Philadelphia Division and assigned stopping places in the village. The citizens were most hospitable and had made preparations for four times as many as arrived, and the disappointment was all on their side. Mr. Chas. H. Moses and the writer were billeted on Mr. J. D. Jones, whose hospitality and that of his family was dispensed in the genuine old fash-ioned hearty style which carries welcome on its face. The other representatives were similarly treated and will bear kindly remembrance of their sojourn there.

SESSIONS OF THE GRAND DIVISION. At three o'clock, P. M., the Grand Division assembled at the M. E. Church and was called to order by G. H. Bomar, P. G. W. A. The committee appointed to prepare rules of

On motion, the office of Grand Worthy Associate was declared vacant and C. H. Moses elected to fill out the remainder of the term. After transacting routine business, the Grand Division adjourned till 8 o'clock.

At the hour designated the Grand Division assembled at the hall of the Subordinate Division ion and was called to order by C. H. Moses, G. Temperance at Chattanooga, which had in view the consoldation of the different temperance organizations in the United States. He feared the Good Templars were getting ahead of Sons of Temperance by the aid of the ladies.

It was explained that the Grand Division left Hill's game, however, had to have an end, it seems, and after he had taken out with Subordinate Divisions. The Division adfourteen letters, supposed to contain mon- journed to meet at Knoxville in regular session

> PHILADELPHIA Is a quiet village of about three hundred irhabitants, and is located in a beautiful valley, the produce of whose fertile soil finds its way to market from the depot at this place. It is an old town and contains many pleasant residences, surrounded by shade and fruit treets.

The Presbyterians are building a church which is nearly completed, and when finished will be a large and convenient edifice. It is 53 x33 feet with a vestibule 11 feet deep, with a gallery of the same size suitable for an organ loft. The church will cost about $2,500, and will Hill is of tall, rather slim frame, with comfortably seat three hundred persons. Col. A. W. Cozart was the builder and one of the largest donors to the building fund. The pulpit is in keeping with the character of the building and was designed by Mr. A. C. Bruce.

Col. C. is one of the live men of the place. He owns a large farm within less than two miles of the depot and delights in large crops and fine stock. In addition he is the senior partner in a large flowering mill, whose capacity is only limited by the water-power. The Colonel in-Mr. J. D. Jones is proprietor of a tannery and in connection therewith manufactures harness and shoes to a limited extent. He owns a large farm of about twelve hundred acres, lives well, takes life easy and is in the enjoyment of a hale old age.

On Thursday morning, a colored man named Hanse Syler died. He was injured four weeks ago by the falling of a scaffold pole, which struck him on the neck, paralyzing him, an account of which we published at the time in the CHRONICLE. A post mortem examination was held when it was discovered that a joint of the vertebra was displaced and the spinal marrow was in a state of suppuration. He was buried in the afternoon.

Wheat is being generally threshed now and brought in for shipment. The yield is large though not quite equal to first expectations, and a good deal will be lost that is yet in the field. An effort to induce immigrants to locate at Philadelphia will be made this winter, we are told. A gentleman owning a large body of land fronting on the railroad, intends laying it off in building lots and offering them for sale at low rates. This policy if carried out can not fail to secure the desired end.

Philadelphia boasts one of the largest, bold est, and coolest spring in East Tennessee, which supplies a large number of the population with water.

A little incident happened to one of the Knox-ville delegation, which will bear telling. Business compelled him to leave on the night train, and being almost prostrated by the heat, he divested himself of clothing and took a nap previously. The gentleman at whose bouse he was stopping stood sentry, and hearing the rumble of the train hastily awakened our friend, who arose and hurriedly dressed, and was horrified to find his collar wouldn't button. However, there was no time to waste, and he rushed to the depot, valise in hand, as the freight train stopped. He was an hour ahead of time, and investigated the condition of his wearing apparel discovered that he had climbed into his shirt backwards, and the back was where the bosom ought to be and vice versa.

Struck by Lightning.

A correspondent of the Rogersville Reporter, writing from Sneedville, under date of the 15th, says that while Mr. James Mullins was at work in the harvest field, a storm came up from which he took shelter under a large tree. Mr. M. had not been there but a few minutes until there was a most terrific clap of thunder, the lightning striking the tree on the upper side, taking off limbs and bark, and tearing the trunk of the tree almost to pieces, till it came to about from ten to twenty feet from the ground to about from ten to twenty feet from the ground to about from ten to twenty feet from the ground the county of the under the "greatest criminal of the age," which seemed to extend through the whom he himself helped to impeach a whom he himself helped to impeach a striking the tree on the upper to have overlooked Andy Johnson's interregular. THE JOHNSON-HAROLD SCANDAL.

The Case Being Investigated in Court.

Some weeks ago we gave full particulars of the facts connected with the suicide of Mrs. Emily Harold, of Greeneville, and of the scandal connected therewith. We then stated that the unfortunate termination of her life was brought about because of certain stories charging her with holding improper intercourse with a distinguished citizen-her neighbor. We stated at the time that the means by which these scandalous rumors were brought to Mrs. these scandalous rumors were brought to Mrs. Harold's ears was through an anonymous letter, sent to Mr. Harold through the postoffice. We stated also that the very general verdict of the good citizens of Greeneville was that these reflections upon Mrs. Harold's character were pronounced false. She was universally regarded as a lady of great worth and of the highest respectability and virtue. Ever since her death it has been the aim of her friends to discover the author of the anonymous letter that brought the scandals to the ears of the family circle. For long weeks and with great caution and energy these investigations have been pursued.

ARREST OF THE SUPPOSED AUTHOR. At last the friends believed they were on the track of the author and had evidence enough to fasten the charge upon him. Accordingly last week a warrant was taken out for the arrest of a young man named R. C. Harne, on the charge of libel. The hearing on this charge began last Tuesday before three Magistrates. It has not yet terminated. We have not as yet been advised from our regular correspondent at Greeneville of the exact character of the testimony adduced, but have understood from others that the proof as to the handwriting of the anonymous letter was of a circumstantial character and based partly on the opinion of experts who had compared it with specimens of Harne's handwriting. But the evidence has not been kept strictly pertinent to the issue. It has taken a wider latitude, and now the whole merits of the case are under consideration. The truth of the charges against the deceased and Mr. Johnson are in issue. So far, the evidence of the truth of the charges has come from two colored men and one white man. We do not know exactly what they swore to, but they were arrest-

ceed. It promises to involve many of the residents of the place in the examination and to turn out a long, bitter and exciting trial. We have referred to it now because rumors of it have already traveled far and wide in exaggerated forms. Having now assumed the shape of a public judicial investigation the facts will be made public in due time.

Since writing the above, and after we hal worked off our first edition, we received the following from the gentlemen by whom it is signed: GREENEVILLE, TENN., July 26, 1872. MESSRS. EDITORS: In the Press and Herald of te-day, under the heading of "Our Greene-ville Letter," there is a statement with regard to the case of the State vs. R. C. Horn, for libel, which, to say the least of it, is incorrect, unfair and inopportune, and calculated in its nature, if not so intended, to misshape and mislead public opinion.

The trial is still pending and may continue several days hence. Meantime, we as counsel for one party request that all publication of any matter prejucial to the prosecution, or the defendant, or any one implicated, be suspended till the conclusion of the trial. And then if the rights of either party should require it, a full and accurate transcript of the evidence in the case will be furnished for publication.

Respectfully and truly, FELIX A. REEVE, J. G. DEADERICK, JOHN ALLISON, JR., A. B. WILSON, Counsel for the Defendants.

The Cincinnati Volksblatt, reviewing Schurz's St. Louis speech says of it: Like Macaulay, he often sacrifices the truth for the sake of a fine metaphor or a telling expression. RADWAY'S SAHSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT Supplies the system, through the blood, urine, sweat and structure, making constituents, with Tissue-making, Flesh-making, Heat or Caloric and Fat-Making elements. All of its constituents are nourishing purifying and strengthening. It repairs, heals, resolves and drives out of the body the products of decay and corruption. Consump-tion, White Swelling, Dropsy, Syphilis, Cancer, Tu-mors, &c., are all of a scrofulous diathesis, and, as such are withto the curative range of the Sarsaparidian Re-

That Scrolula, by whatever name designs on, is the result of deposits from the blood, induced or caused by chronic inflammation. That those deposits take place when the blood is poor, weak, watery, and incapable of holding in solution its proper constituents, or from the presence of seme virus or poison in the blood, as Mer-oury, Calomel, Corrosive Sublimate, which is the Cor-rosive Chloride of Mercury, or other agents, given in midicines, and which enters largely in the common advertised Sarsaparillas, not absorbed or changed from their natural condition.

That unless the repairs or nutriments are greater than the wastes, that decomposition and decay will pervene, and the powers of his become exhausted.

That the dying body cannot be sustained on any treatment of medication that exhausts the system or tails to nourish the blood, the only medium through which the vital forces are preserved, and on which the growth of the body depends.
